Drunken drivers will pay police cost in '92

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Beware New Year's Eve revelers, if you are arrested on drunken driving charges in 1992–the book thrown at you could be your own checkbook.

Changes in state drunk driving laws may also find area police officers spending much more time in court testifying regarding drunk driving arrests.

The new scenario was unveiled Monday night, when Romulus City Attorney Barry A. Seifman told city council members that in addition to costlier fines, drunk driving offenders will also be picking up much of the cost of the investigation.

With the increased costs (via fee payments) and an accelerated date of license suspensions, Seifman said a 25-percent increase in drunk driving jury trials could be anticipated.

Prior to the new state law effective Jan. 1, defendant's license suspensions would begin on sentencing dates rather than the new date– the day the plea is entered.

Repeat violators will be treated even more harshly than before, the attorney stated.

Court caseloads will become even heavier, the city attorney said, as before a first offender's case might be handled with five minutes of court time. Now with expected heavy jury trial requests that time will jump to about 10 hours per-trial minimum.

In preparation for the law changes, council members approved a new set of fees a convicted defendant will pay in addition to a fine and other penalties.

The purpose of the fee schedule to "to provide a standardized schedule of fees to be assessed under the local ordinance...allowing for a fair and reasonable recovery of direct costs incurred in the arrest and prosecution of intoxicated or impaired drivers found within the city."

Projected 1992 court costs

- Personnel costs--arresting officer (average four man hours at $16.75 per hour or total of $67).
- Breathalyzer operator--average one hour–$18.
- Court appearances (four hours at 1 1/2 times rate of pay) or $100 per police officer and $120 per sergeant.

The following material and administrative costs were also OK'd:

- Chemical analysis (blood or urine) $135.
- Breathalyzer/PBT materials $5.
- Court administrative costs $10.

In the event that firemen are called, the following Fire Department costs were approved.

- Firefighter/EMT at $11 each (six on each run) or a total of $66.
- Equipment charges including $100 per rescue van, $150 per engine-pumper run and $100 per ladder truck run.
- Materials--namely emulsifiers and absorbents as required per fuel spill, $20.

Christmas tree lighting slated for Friday night

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The festive Christmas tree lighting at Romulus City Hall will take place at 6:30 p.m. Friday.

Heather Mate, 8, has been selected as the official holiday tree lighter. Children and adults will gather and sing Christmas carols until Santa makes his annual appearance aboard a local fire truck.

The gathering then will move to the junior high school on Wick Road, where the children will get a chance to spend time with Santa, receive a gift stocking and enjoy refreshments including hot chocolate and donuts.

A recreation department spokesman said parents will also have a chance to have their children photographed with Santa for a cost of $2.

On Thursday, the recreation department will also sponsor a free concert Sounds of the Season at 6:30 p.m. at Romulus Senior High School. The musical will feature choirs from local churches and elementary schools.

A class for adults wishing to create holiday centerpieces is scheduled for Dec. 14. Persons interested must pay $10 and register at the Recreation Building on Bibbins prior to the class.

Participants will be permitted to make two centerpieces with holiday greens materials. Spaces are limited, so interested parties are urged to sign up early.

Remember lonely during holiday

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

'Tis the season to be jolly--for many at this time of the year.

But it is also the time for depression, particularly for the lonely, warns Doug Plant, clinical supervisor at the Romulus Help Center.

With the extreme economic conditions this year, Plant said, that crisis situation may even be worse than in recent years.

The emotional pressure on the lonely and the financially-strapped has begun and will continue at least thru the week after New Year's Day, he said.

There is always pressure this time of year, no matter how much money a family member makes, Plant explained, and for those who are trying to make amends with family or friends, it is even more severe.

Plant urges area residents to remain sensitive to their family and friends emotional needs this holiday season..."but don't forget your own diet and health conditions."

While many senior citizens are aware of the local network for older residents, Plant urges all to remain aware that some new residents or some without family ties may not be aware of the social activities open to seniors today.

This period is also a stressful time for children of divorced parents. Plant urged the non-custodial parent not to expect total verbalization from their children.

"Be active with them--talk with them–but don't overact if your child does not wrap a massive hug around you during this stressful season," he said.

In fact if need be give them a little more leeway, Plant urges, "but keep them aware of the time and space limits or boundaries."

Canvassers denied permit by council

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A request by the Michigan Citizens Lobby for a no fee permit was rejected Monday night by members of the Romulus City Council.

Councilmen complained the undated letter from MCL was received, but when attempts were made to contact J. Richard Blakeney Jr., listed as the Ann Arbor Canvass Director, the city was told he no longer was with the group.

In the letter, the MCL said their representatives planned a door-to- door membership drive from December 1991 thru June 1992. The times listed in the letter were from 4 to 9 p.m. on weekdays and from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on weekends.

Several councilmen said the claim that the group "courteous and friendly canvassers" often were college-age adults, who many times "tried to impose their ideas on others" and often refused to accept checks as donations, often demanding cash.

Since no one appeared to speak on behalf of the group Monday night to discuss the issues being canvassed, the councilmembers voted 6-1 against the approval of the permit. Councilman Jimmie Rasbberry cast the dissenting vote. Raspberry said First Amendment rights blocked him from opposing the canvassing efforts.

Low bid for historical park accepted

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A low bid for the construction of the Romulus Historical Park - a passive style park favored by many senior citizens - that actually was lower than its estimated cost was awarded Monday night by members of the city council to WCI Contractors Inc. of Fraser.

The award was set at $137,815--the lowest of 12 submitted. The highest was $289,090 submitted by Guzzo Contracting. The estimated price had been set at $147,000, according to Jeff Martell, community development coordinator.

Construction is slated to begin in late March or early April with the completion date set for May 22 and will include grading soil on the 1 1/2 acre site at Bibbins and Hunt streets (south of the post office), planting numerous trees, erecting a bandshell pavilion-style unit, sidewalks, park benches and fencing along the railroad.

In addition a 1939 era caboose will be renovated by General Motors staff and donated to the city.

Much of the funding will come from Community Development Block Grants and funds from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. About $10,000 also will come from the city recreation department.

Other awards were granted to:

--Computerize Fleet Analysis for software at $5,495.

--Wright Tool Co. for metal cutting band saw at $2,310 (lone bidder).

--McGard Special Products Division for fire hydrant locks and keys at $2,470.

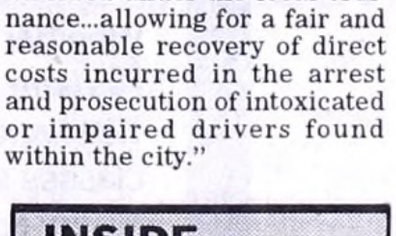

In addition, Mayor Beverly McAnally reappointed Doris Mitchell to the Romulus Housing Commission and Hulen Yates was renamed to the Construction Board of Appeals.

Fire station 3 to be named for late Romulus fireman

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus Fire Station 3 will soon be renamed to honor firefighter Don Daughenbaugh, who died March 24 of this year, shortly after helping to extinguish a fire on Burton Street.

Daughenbaugh, 25, died of an apparent heart attack. Because he died in the line of duty, Daughenbaugh received a full military funeral.

The day after Daughenbaugh's death, the members of the city council approved a resolution of sympathy and support for the Daughenbaugh family.

Charities find more people at their doors

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

A combination of an economic downturn and cutbacks in aid have prompted an increase in people seeking help from volunteer agencies in western Wayne County.

"Last year the Belleville Area Goodfellows organization was responsible for making Christmas a littler brighter for 300 families in the Belleville-Van Buren Township area. We provided turkeys, fresh food and an abundance of staples. In some case, such things as Christmas trees, decorations, warm clothing and payment of utility bills," said Goodfellow President Paul Nerswick. "But the neatest, of course, is that every child received toys from Santa."

Goodfellows began their newspaper sale last week.

"We have many volunteers working for the organization this year. For example, Van Buren Township Police will not be hosting a children's Christmas party this year, and monies usually spent for the party will be contributed to the Belleville Area Goodfellows," Nerswick said, noting that volunteers from the Belleville and Van Buren Township police and fire departments plus elected officials and residents have been participating in the fund-raising drive.

Individuals who wish to send contributions to the Goodfellows may send them to the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, 116 Fourth St., Belleville, Mich. 48111.

"We expect to serve more people this year because unemployment, layoffs and cutbacks in public assistance have swelled the number of needy people in the state," said Lt. Heidi Smith of the Norwayne Corp Center of The Salvation Army. "We don't have an estimate on the number of people we will serve, but we do expect an increase from past years. As we become more known in the area more people contact us for help."

Drawing by Jane Kovach

The Norwayne Corps has served Westland, Wayne and Romulus for three years.

Smith noted that applications for assistance are being taken at the Norwayne Corps office at this time. Applications that are received before Friday will be sent to The Salvation Army headquarters and checks will be made out to eligible applicants to enable them to purchase food at Farmer Jack and toys at Kmart. After Dec. 6, those who apply will receive food baskets.

"We've been hit very, very hard. We've had a big increase in people needing food, but not a comparable increase in donations," said Toni Hunt, who heads the Belleville Food Closet at the United Methodist Church of Belleville. "Our cupboards are almost as bare as Mother Hubbard's cupboard, and we continue to have people come in seeking help."

A typical food bag from the Belleville Food Closet includes a box of cereal, canned meat and tuna, crackers, pork and beans, canned fruit and vegetables plus odds and ends of donated foods. If there are infants in the family, baby food is also included.

"Donations of non-perishable foods can be dropped off at 417 Charles St., Belleville, between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. on weekdays, and pickups can be scheduled by calling 697-9288," Hunt said.

Major Robert Thompson, divisional social services director of The Salvation Army, expects an increase of assistance applicants of 8 percent or more.

Thompson noted that The Salvation Army recently completed a successful coat drive and has begun a second coat drive.

"People can help by bringing donations of coats or canned goods to their local Salvation Army community center. Contributions can be made in the red kettles or mailed to 16130 Northland Drive, Southfield, Mich. 48075-5218," Thompson said.

The annual red kettle collections began last week at malls, stores and street corners. Red kettle donations provide a major portion of the money used to fund the holiday programs, according to Thompson.

INTERVENING SHOWS YOU CARE FOR ALCOHOLIC LOVED ONES

By Sanganur V. Mahadevan, M.D.

In many cases, the least recognized victim of alcoholism is the alcoholic.

We readily see members of an alcoholic's family as victims of alcoholism, especially when they are subjects of abuse or when the alcoholic spends household funds to sustain a dependency. We also accept that society is victimized by alcoholism, so we enact laws to deal with alcohol-related problems, such as limiting the legal purchase age or restricting use of alcohol while driving.

Seldom do we focus on the physical damage alcohol causes to the drinking individual. And often, the most ignored person is the non-aggressive, non-abusive drinker who fulfills his or her responsibilities at work and at home.

Long-term poisoning

Abuse of alcohol destroys virtually every body system and function: the brain, the heart, the digestive system, the liver. A one-time alcohol overdose can cause immediate death by cardiac or respiratory failure. At the other end of the spectrum, steady drinkers who consume more than two beers, two cocktails, or two glasses of wine daily poison their bodies slowly over a period of years.

Sometimes there is no warning; early death or disability may result from the first episode of an alcohol-induced disorder

When alcohol depresses brain function, it also masks pain, lulling the person into a false sense of health. Further, alcohol may hinder rational judgment that allows an individual to recognize his or her own problem. Avoidance and denial are particularly easy when families, friends, and co-workers don't have reason to complain about abuse or irresponsibility.

Your actions can save a life

Medical support is a vital component of alcohol withdrawal. Your doctor can supply details about specific alcohol-related medical problems and prescribe medications to ease some distress of withdrawal—and help your loved one remain alcohol-free.

If you have a loved one who you fear drinks too much, talk to your doctor or seek assistance of a reputable support group, such as Alcoholics Anonymous or Al-Anon. Your love and support can save a precious life from an early death.

Students get pre-holiday treat

Students at Cory Elementary School received their Thanksgiving surprise one day early last week, when a Native American in full dress treated them to nearly an hour of Indian culture.

Wayne Jackson, a Tuscarora Cherokee, spoke at two assemblies for the student body Nov. 27. He offered displays of various Indian ceremonial objects, including feathers, beaded-leather clothing, a bear rug, antlers and claws.

Jackson explained his heritage to the students and gave them lessons in Indian dances, once even selecting Kathy Robinson, a local speech therapist, as his dance partner.

> "Several of the teachers were "so impressed" with the assemblies, they are hoping they can use such programs in a classroom setting in the future.
> - Mildred Jackson

The first assembly at 10 a.m. was attended by the fourth-sixth graders and the 11 a.m. session was for the Kindergarten-third graders.

Three school teachers, Mildred Washington, Annie Hines and Beatrice Morgan, coordinated the assemblies to coincide with the Thanksgiving holiday and the fact most of the students were currently involved with Indian culture studies.

Several of the teachers were "so impressed" with the assemblies, Washington said, they are hoping they can use such programs in a classroom setting in the future.

Sentencing program could end crowded jails

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A major alternative sentencing program that could help alleviate the overcrowded jail population and at the same time clean up area dirt and clutter is being prepared for Jan. 1.

Thirty-fourth Judicial District Judge Felix F. Rogalle told Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally and members of the city council recently that the work program is an "alternative to incarceration" effort that could impact as many as 800-to-1,000 persons in a calendar year.

Those accepted in the program would be supervised by personnel of the 34th District Court in cooperation with the Department of Public Works in Romulus.

This program would replace involvement with the current Wayne County Work Program, which costs the city about $50,000 a year.

Court subjects would pay $20 per day to be involved in this alternative plan and would be assigned duties that the local DPW neither has the manpower nor the inclination to perform, the judge said.

The projects would include litter pickups on the streets, beautification projects and miscellaneous projects for local church and charitable organizations.

This plan will place no DPW jobs in jeopardy, Rogalle stressed, as the participants will only be working on jobs "beyond the manpower" of current DPW staff.

14 workers face narcotics charges in alleged drug sales

Fourteen employees of the General Motors Powertrain Transmission Plant in Ypsilanti face charges for dealing cocaine, mariujuana and Valium to fellow employees.

In a series of arrests, the 14 suspects were charged with a variety of offfenses connected with dealing cocaine, marijuana and Valium. All but one of the suspects was released on bail prior to Dec. 9, and one suspect was slated to appear in U.S. District Court Dec. 10.

"Although the arrests were made in a group, each one is an individual defendant and will enter his own plea. Therefore, we cannot say what the next step will be for the 14 subjects." said U.S. Justice Department Assistant Attorney Elizabeth Fleming. "It would not be unusual that charges could be dropped and an indictment be sought."

> Although the arrests were made in a group, each one is an individual defendant and will enter his own plea.
> - U.S. Justice Department Assistant Attorney Elizabeth Fleming

The arrests were the result of a year-long, in-plant investigation by the Michigan State Police and narcotics officers from the Narcotics Enforcement Team in Washtenaw and Livingston counties. The investigation was launched after complaints of alleged drug sales were reported to a confidential plant security line.

In the first series of arrests, a 34-year-old Canton Township man and three Belleville men were apprehended. Other suspects arrested at the same time were from Ypsilanti and Allen Park. In the second series of arrests, two Westland men and an Ypsilanti woman were apprehended and warrants were issued for a 35-year-old Canton Township man and a 36- year-old Livonia man.

All of the suspects were charged with various counts of intent to distribute, and some were charged with more than one offense. The maxiumum penalty for one count of marijuana or cocaine distribution is a five-year prison term and a $250,000 fine. The penalty for selling Valium, a prescription drug, is three years in prison and a $250,000 fine.

Police said only one of the suspects is being charged with the sale of Valium, while the remaining suspects will be charged with distibution of marijuana and cocaine.

Indictments must be sought within 30 days of the arrest of the suspects, according to the U.S. Justice Department.

Man sets self on fire in suicide attempt

By KEVIN LITWIN
ANP Staff Writer

A 43-year-old Canton Township man was listed in serious condition at the Ann Arbor Burn Center after setting himself on fire during a suicide attempt early Monday morning.

Canton Police were summoned to the man's home at 1:45 a.m. Dec. 2 after receiving a frantic phone call from the victim's father. Police rushed to the scene and noticed smoke coming out of the front and side doors and the father beckoning to police from the front lawn, according to police accounts of the incident.

The father told the officers that his son had set fire to himself, and was burning to death in the kitchen.

Police rushed in and found the victim lying in a pile of ashes and burnt clothing, still smoldering. The man was still breathing, but was in severe pain, according to police reports.

Officers reported that in response to their questions, the injured man responded only, "I am the devil. I need to get the devil out of my body."

The Canton Fire Department arrived at the scene and Emergency Medical Technicians administered first aid to the victim.

Med-Flight was summoned and transported the victim by helicopter to the Ann Arbor Burn Center. The man was taken by ambulance to Fiegel Elementary School where the helicopter could land safely.

Fire Department officials estimated that the man suffered first, second and third-degree burns over 85 percent of his body.

The father also received burns on the bottom of his feet as he tried to stomp out the flames on his son. The father had been asleep, and was awakened to the sounds of his son's screams, according to police reports.

Westland police man mobile station at center

For the fourth year, a rather inconspicuous trailer has quietly been towed into the parking lot at Westland Center. Utility lines were connected to the portable white structure with the bright blue City of Westland logo and as the biggest shopping day of the year approached, Westland police last week began operations from this mobile police station.

According to Westland Police Chief Michael Frayer, the command station provides a great deal of convenience for officers in the field and has allowed far more efficiency of operations for the department.

"The mobile station cuts down on the amount of time road officers are tied up preparing reports. With the mobile station, many arrests can be processed right there rather than taking time to travel to the police station. It keeps the officers patroling the heavy shopping core on the road and provides much greater efficiency," the chief said.

Westland Mayor Robert Thomas is proud of the mobile station and considers the facility important to the community and to residents from surrounding areas who shop at the center.

"It makes our shopping center one of the safest anywhere," Thomas said. "I think we're the only city that I'm actually aware of that has a mobile police station."

Frayer noted that the increased holiday shopping usually beginning the day after Thanksgiving brings increased crime. The shopping areas which attract more holiday crowds also attract crime, the chief noted, and the Westland department has taken several measures to help curtail and control the situation.

Two officers are assigned to the mobile station every day from about 2 p.m. until the shopping center stores are closed, Frayer said, although the public may not always find the mini-station open and an officer at the desk.

When paperwork is complete and the facility no longer needed, the officers are back on patrol, Frayer noted, and they do not stay just in the Westland Center area but travel to Meijer's and throughout the heavy retail development along Warren Road.

The department also assigns patrolmen from the traffic bureau and undercover individuals to the shopping areas, Frayer noted, and they, too, utilize the mini station for paperwork and processing of suspects.

The expense of the mobile station is shared by the city, Westland Center and Meijer's, according to Frayer, and the officers assigned to the duty are all on regularly scheduled overtime.

"Crime is as much a part of the holiday season as shopping," Frayer said. "We know it and we plan for it."

The station will remain open through Christmas Eve, Frayer said, and while the station can't provide the services available to the public at the Ford Road station.

Chief offers shopping tips

By POLICE CHIEF MICHAEL FRAYER

Once again, the Christmas shopping season is upon us. And, while most of us promised that we would get started ealier than we did last year, we now find that we have a minimum amount of time to do a maximum amount of shopping.

Hopefully, the normal stress and strain of Christmas shopping will not be compounded by crime which can make victims of holiday shoppers. During the next month, there are those who make a rather good living by preying on holiday shoppers. In Westland, the police department has taken some active steps to counter this problem by scheduling a special Retail Core Patrol which provides additional patrol forces in the retail store center in and around Wayne and Warren roads.

The increased police presence in this area has made our shopping season one of the safest in the metropolitan area. Though we and the retail community are doing what we feel is necessary to keep crime in our shopping areas to a minimum, there still are some things which you can do to help keep yourself safe.

One of the major problems we have is that most people walk around in a state of unawareness. Generally, we can identify three states of awareness which all of us possess. They are the white state, or the state of unawareness regarding our surroundings, the green state, or the state of heightened awareness and the red state, when there is total awareness and preparation to react.

Too many of us spend most of our time in the white state and do not take the time to be aware of our surroundings. A little common sense and awareness would help prevent our own victimization. The childhood adage of stop, look and listen still rings true and is your best first-line defense against becoming a statistic.

If you are aware of the possibility of danger, you will avoid the exposure to it. The following safety tips should also make you less vulnerable. Hopefully, we can all enjoy a crime-free holiday season.

Blood. What Every American Should Know.

1. Each year four million Americans depend on blood transfusions.
2. The safeguards on the blood supply include conducting seven separate laboratory tests to screen out AIDS, hepatitis and other infectious agents, educating donors on transmissible diseases and encouraging at-risk donors to disqualify themselves from giving blood.
3. Blood banking is one of the most highly regulated areas in health care, governed by multiple federal and state rules, laws, policies and regulations.
4. As an alternative to blood transfusions, today a growing number of people benefit from autologous (self) transfusions.
5. There is no risk of AIDS or other infectious diseases when blood is donated, as sterilized needles are never reused.

Opinion

An attitude adjustment is in order

It really is that time of year.

Take a look around. A real look. There are decorations on doors and in windows. Those traditional Christmas lights are blinking from windowsills and rooflines throughout the area. Retailers advanced the season to October this year, but now, everyone has caught up. It really is a time for peace on earth and good will toward men. Those colored lights and greenery adorned with red ribbons do have a significance many of us do not stop to consider.

There is a deeper meaning to this season, no matter what religious discipline is followed. This is a time of caring. This is a time for demonstrating a spirit of charity and, above all else, a reaffirmation of hope. This is a time for celebration of the human spirit.

Yes, the economic climate is exceptionally unpleasant. There is doubt and uncertainty in nearly every home. There are many who have had incomes reduced as times become even more difficult. There are the homeless, the destitute and those who rely solely on the charity of others.

But that charity, like hope, does exist. There are so many fine and good things happening in our small corner of the world. We cannot allow these times to obscure the reality of our situations. We cannot fall victim to the attitudes which seem so prevalent today.

It is time for each and every one of us to evaluate our individual attitudes and our ability to sort out gossip and innuendo from fact. The prevailing winds of political dissent in our area have fostered a rush to believe the worst of people, sometimes to our own disservice. We would urge discretion in the rush to judgment of others. Because gossip and innuendo are easier and usually more fun to believe, we, as the faulted creatures we are, tend to relish the social peccadilloes and failures of others.

Politicians seem to be the most ill used of these targets. In our local communities, there have been attempted recalls of six members of one city council, attempts at recalling three members of a school board and now the school board president is being threatened withrecall for her part in the improper firing of the superintendent of schools. And his reputation has been irrevocably damaged and impugned by the careless pandering to the baser instincts of those eager to demean and topple anyone in a position of responsibility.

And if these types of political machinations are planted in the fertile soil of thwarted ambitions and diminished self-respect, they are fertilized and carefully tended by those who spread gossip and help in the proliferation of misinformation and scandal mongering which seems to accompany such actions.

Could we not, as thinking, caring adults learn to exercise our power of reason and look with some doubt on the accusations of wrong doing heaped on those in the public sector? What is so lacking in our own lives that we relish the downfall of many people whose motives were only to serve their community or their schools or whichever other path they may have chosen with pure motives?

While we certainly do not advocate the Pollyanna philosophy and have certainly done more than our share of pointing with alarm and calling to light actions we find questionable, we would like everyone to live by the rules which are forced, by law, on us as a newspaper.

If you can't prove it, you can't repeat it.

That might make for some very short conversations at many political activist meetings.

Happy holidays.

Board president defends actions

To the editor:

I fully recognize the fact that I am elected by the people to serve the people. I am also aware that current law allows for the recall of elected officials. Therefore, the individual who filed this recall petition was well within his legal right to do so and I will not waste any additional tax dollars, precious court time or other resources to stop or stall what the people are legally entitled to do.

With regards to the recall language itself, it would seem I am being targeted for one vote, a vote in favor of raises for our teachers. There were many good reasons to vote for the contract, and I stated those at the meeting the night the contract was approved, but the alternative, a threatened teachers strike, seemed to be worse. I stated publicly at the board meeting that there was only one real, compelling reason to vote in favor of the contract that reason being that every day we entrust our most valuable resource to teachers, our children and to me that was reason enough.

The recall petition speaks to millage elections and program cuts. For the past several years I have been the only board member to ask tough questions about the financial condition of our district. I also voted against several of the millage proposals knowing that the amount requested was too high and it would be an excessive burden on the taxpayers of this district. In light of the "surprise" $4.4 million surplus uncovered by audit sources, I would not hesitate to say that my votes against millage increases were right on target and best represented the needs of our community.

When I first ran for board several years ago, I ran on a platform of "quality education for kids." I still consider that my top priority. I do not think that shortened school days, dual principalships, elimination of expressive arts classes, and other cuts that were approved by the board and implemented by the superintendent stood for quality education. That is why I did not vote in favor of these cutbacks. I have often stood alone against the administration and my fellow board members in the decision making process. These times have sometimes proven difficult but I have weathered the storm because I believed in what I was doing. I have always cast my vote for what I think is in the best interest of the entire community (and I will continue to do that as long as I am a member of the board). I can live with myself because of that and I firmly believe that the votes I have cast have had a positive impact on our community. I am confident that if a recall election is held against me that the public will remember my voting record and know that (many times alone) I stood up for them.

Finally, and most importantly, recalls and other actions that cause division in our community need to come to an end. While those persons who have filed recall language have the legal right to do so, they also have a moral obligation to act in the best interests of our community. Further actions of this type can only tear our district apart. It is time to heal the wounds of political dissent and to bring our community together. Decisions have been made that some people do not agree with, but they have been made and are part of the past. It is time to stop looking back and to move forward to implement those decisions in a positive manner. We must all start acting like adults, and most importantly as the role models that we are for our children. Isn't that why we are all involved--for our children? We must put aside our petty political differences and put our children first or we will suffer the consequences later.

Parade boosters are appreciated

To the editor:

Wayne has had another successful Christmas parade due to the efforts of many.

Special thank yous go out to Jaylee Lynch who donated her considerable skills to make sure that the parade would be a reality even if the Wayne Jaycees Chapter did not exist anymore. Thanks also to Wild Bill Copland who was determined to make the parade go on.

The Palace Theater Co. members donated their time and energy in lining up the parade and also gave us Santa Claus. Thanks to those Wayne Roatarians who helped too.

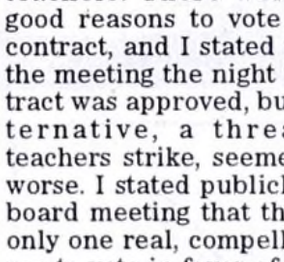

Where would this parade be without the cooperation of the Wayne Police Department and Wayne Cable?

We must not forget all those

Drugs frighten student

To the editor:

In response to Dennis Tomashewsky's attack on the City of Wayne's purchase of the State Wayne Theatre, we must "agree to disagree. "The city purchased the downtown theatre for several reasons--to utilize a longtime vacant building, to provide a place of quality and affordable family entertainment and as an investment in the future of the city.

I share as much nostalgia as any other area resident who was raised seeing movies at the State Wayne and I am pleased to share many fond memories with my children. But putting nostalgia aside, considerchange and prosperity in any city does not come quickly or without opposition.

Wayne was under poor management for years and suffered much as adirect result of that mismanagement. What must presently and importantly be realized is the transformation of people, ethics and ideals is imperative and needs to occur quickly. With the opening ofthe theatre, though, don't you believe some progress is being made?

As a local Realtor, I am secure in the opinion Wayne will again be a sought-after locale for young families but not if we have nothing to offer. Affordability is the key to drawing home buyers to any area, be it in food, housing or recreation.

Convenience to shopping and entertainment is also important. If we keep the dollars here, in town, we will be closer than ever to our goal.

Chuck Johnson's conservatory plans are unique and could be very beneficial to our downtown, but that isn't something that can happen overnight. Relatively speaking, the State Wayne renovation did. Whenever redirection is necessary, it is imperative for those who see obvious wrong doing to step in and assist. Perhaps, Mr. Tomashewsky, there is a city council seat in your future.

To the editor:

My name is Deveta Stillwell. I'm 14 years old and I'm in the ninth grade.

I would like to know why people are putting drugs on tattoos that little children like to lick and play with. I was reading an article and I got very concerned about what will happen to younger children.

Please put something in your newspapers concerning important information on the drugs these people are putting on tattoos.

Inkster doesn't have a very large population and it's getting smaller because of the things people are doing to our city. Please help us out by putting important information all around so that parents can take precautions and save a lot of young kids' lives.

Thank you for taking time to read my letter.

TRAVEL TIPS

If the Caribbean appeals to you but you can't decide on a specific destination, there's an ideal way to maximize your budget. You might even call it a "sampler pack." Or, if you prefer to be more specific, it's actually a Caribbean cruise.

Inasmuch as cruises combine several ports which vary depending upon the ship and length of the cruise, you have many options from which to choose. Shore excursions are always available and you'll usually have a full day to sightsee or go to the beach, giving you a good idea of what's available for a longer stay. (It's also much less expensive to visit more than one island by ship; combined airfares usually make it prohibitively expensive.)

Clients returning from a Caribbean cruise often stop in to tell us how much they enjoyed the experience. In addition, they tell us which ports they liked best and it's not uncommon for them to add that they want to return to specific island for a longer stay. It's a great way to see as much as possible while only unpacking once; the ship is both your transportation and your hotel and the greatest value in the world.

There are certain islands between which you can fly in less than an hour, but it's far more difficult and expensive than doing your sightseeing from a cruise ship. A cruise is a fantastic vacation even if you never go ashore, and rates vary depending upon the ship and the time of year. Give us a call and let us tell you about the current specials.

Hotel offers complete New Years package

Those looking for a place to spend an enjoyable New Year's Eve and New Year's Day, needn't look any further than the Romulus Marriott at Metro Airport. The Marriott is offering almost 24 hours of food, fun and relaxation from 3 p.m. Dec. 31 to 2 p.m. Jan. 1.

"We opened in June of 1990, and we're the newest hotel at Metro Airport," said Chuck Pecevich, food and beverage director for the Romulus Marriott at Metro. "By the way, there are two Marriotts at Metro, one inside and one outside. We're the one that's outside."

The Romulus Marriott at Metro Airport, located at 30559 Flynn Drive, 1/4 mile north of I-94 at Merriman Road, is offering an ultra-deluxe overnight package for two this year for $192.

"Our theme this year for our New Year's celebration is "Leave Your Wallet at Home,"

> "Each guest will stay in a king size room, and the people can enjoy full use of our facilities.
> - Chuck Pecevich

Pecevich said. "A lot of places advertise their packages, but don't include taxes, gratuities and whatever other additional expenses are involved. But we want the public to know that the $192 package for two includes everything."

The Romulus Marriott at Metro package includes a deluxe overnight guest room, a deluxe gourmet dinner for two, dancing to the melodic sounds of The Sierra Band, and a hot breakfast on New Year's Day.

"Each guest will stay in a king-size room, and the people can enjoy full use of our facilities," Pecevich said. "The hotel has an indoor swimming pool, a hot tub and a state-of-the-art health club for workouts."

The New Year's Eve feast will consist of a five-course gourmet dinner which is scheduled for 8 p.m.

"Dinner will begin with chilled veal florentine, then a delicious Caesar's salad," Pecevich said. "We'll follow that with a Michigan cherry ice sorbet, which cleanses the palate before the dinner feast. The entree will consist of a surf-and-turf selection of roast loin of beef accompanied with spicy pepper shrimp."

"The meal will be topped off with a Kahlua ganache tort," Pecevich added. "All coffee and non-alcoholic beverages are free, and each couple receives 10 drink coupons for the evening with the package."

The Romulus Marriott at Metro will provide a champagne toast at midnight, and party favors will be supplied. A balloon drop will take place at midnight to welcome 1992.

The overnight package includes a New Year's Day hot breakfast buffet for two, which will be served between 8 a.m. and 1 p.m. New Year's Day.

Music will be provided by The Sierra Band, a local ensemble out of Taylor, Michigan.

"The Sierra Band plays Top 40 and oldies selections," Pecevich said. "They've played at Joe Louis Arena for the last couple of New Year's Eves, so we're glad to have them here. They are a full seven-piece band, which is rare because most bands these days are made up of three or four musicians with a synthesizer thrown in."

"We're going to have the hot breakfast until 1 p.m. so that people can sleep in late, yet still enjoy a good breakfast when they get up," Pecevich said. "And we're not just serving a Continental breakfast. It'll be a full hot breakfast with eggs, sausage, bacon, etc."

The slogan for this New Year's Eve-New Year's celebration is, "Spend New Year's Eve at Marriott. Then Take the Elevator Home."

All-Area Cross Country Honor Roll

Derek Cudini,a 17-year-old junior, who represents Plymouth Salem on the All-Area team, qualified for the Class A state final run after finishing 17th at the regional. A standout in the Western Lakes Conference where he usually set the pace, Derek finished seventh overall in the conference and was also picked all-division, all- league.

Gary Knowlton is a repeat all-Wolverine 'A' Conference unanimous selection. The Belleville senior captained the Tigers to an excellent 6-2 league season and led them to the state finals. Incidentally, the 1991 Tigers were the first to ever reach the state championships. His personal accomplishments this season included a 11th-place finish at the regional finals.

Jason Kidwell is one of the rocks that Belleville coach David Medley successfully built his team upon. A senior with three years of cross country experience behind him, Jason helped the Tigers qualified for the state finals as a team. He finished 17th in the state as a junior and led his teammates most of the 1991 campaign until the flu bug sidelined him in the stretch.

Coach of the year
Medley provides leadership

Back in the late 1960s, Dave Medley was an outstanding distance runner as a prep at Belleville High.

A league champ whose shelf is stocked with scores of first-place trophies, Medley, like most runners, wanted someday to compete in the state finals.

Unfortunately, that dream never materialized. Until this year.

The 42-year-old Belleville educator-coach put together a Tiger team that managed to qualify for the state. It was the first-time ever that a Belleville cross country team accomplished that feat.

"We had nine very competitive kids on this team," Medley explained. "The overall team balance made the difference."

Although Belleville was forced to run in the shadows of an impeccable Monroe club, finishing second to the Trojans in the Wolverine 'A" Conference title race, the Tigers emerged as a power in their own right. The Tigers amassed an 8-1 record en route to a third-place finish at the regionals and a 17th-place finish at state.

For his accomplishments during the 1991 season, The Associated Newspapers sports staff is proud to name David Medley as its Cross Country Coach of the Year.

Aaron Simpson was voted the MVP of the 1991 Wayne Memorial team. The Zebra captain has toured the five-kilometers in 16:40 . He is a repeat pick on the all-conference team. He also was named to the all- region lineup, and finished 20th in the state finals. Simpson was sidelined in the stretch with a dislocated knee, but managed to come back strong in the final weeks.

Jeff Tapper is only a junior and will return to the Westland John Glenn lineup next year. His All-Area credentials include an impressive 11th-place finish at the tough Western Lakes Championships. Tapper earned recognition as one of the finest distance runners on the high school scene.

Casey Moothart completed a sterling freshman year at Plymouth- Canton where he was given all-conference recognition after finishing the three-miles in 17:14. That time, incidentally, is the sixth best on the Canton record board for a freshman runner. Casey continued to impress the coaching staff as he covered the regional course in 17:22,

Troy Adams was the third building block that Belleville built upon. Like Kidwell and Knowlton, Adams is also a senior with three years of varsity experience. He served as a team captain. An all- league choice for the second successive year, Troy has been clocked for the three-miles at 16:49. A 11th-place finisher at the regionals.

How we choose

It is never an easy task to select the best in anything. Tougher when it comes to a sport like cross country. But with the assistance of the local high school coaches and fans, The Associated Newspapers' sports staff managed to do so. The statistics and the advice from the coaches is a winning formula that we here at the ANP will always use. Next week, the 1991 All-Area women's cross country team will make their debut.

Canton cagers looking back to the future

By KEVIN LITWIN
ANP Staff Writer

All signs point to the Plymouth Canton boys basketball team having a fine season in 1991-92. The Chiefs made it to the regional finals of the Michigan state tournament last year, and are returning this season with most of their lineup intact.

"Last year we went 17-8 and went farther in the tournament than ever before in our history," said varsity coach Dave Van Wagoner. "This year I'm expecting to do even better."

Van Wagoner has good reason to be confident. The Chiefs return three starters for 1991-92, along with quite a few players that saw a lot of playing time last season.

"We'll start Tony Coshatt, a 6-foot-7, 250-pound senior, at center," Van Wagoner said. "Tony has already signed to play with Saginaw Valley College after he graduates from Canton."

"We'll also go with senior Derrick McDonald, a 6-foot-1 guard who averaged 18 points a game last season, and junior Mike Stafford, a 6- foot-1 guard."

Van Wagoner said that most of the remaining playing time will be shared by 6-foot-6 senior guard Mike Brennan, 6-foot-1 senior forward Jon Paupore, 6-foot-2 sophomore forward Matt Paupore, 6-foot-6 senior center Hal Heard, 6-foot-5 senior center Owen Crosby and 6-foot-5 senior center Mike Corp.

Coach Van Wagoner said his team will mostly deploy a 3-guard offense with two post players. They intend to implement a man-to-man defense, and will fast-break whenever possible.

Canton plays in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association. Other teams in the division include Livonia Churchill, Livonia Franklin, Northville, Farmington Harrison and Walled Lake Western.

> "Last year we went 17-8 and went farther in the tournament than ever before in our history.
> - Varsity coach Dave Van Wagoner

Canton has been practicing since early November for two hours a day, six days a week. The Chiefs open the season Dec. 10 on the road against powerful Wayne High School.

"Wayne is probably the toughest foe we'll face this year," Van Wagoner said. They are very well coached, and have some good athletes."

Canton plays 17 regular-season contests this season, beginning with Wayne. The Chiefs' first home game will be Dec. 13 against Monroe. Their first conference game will be Jan. 10 at Westland John Glenn. Their first divisional game will be Jan. 24 at Livonia Churchill.

Any predictions for the season, Coach Van Wagoner?

"I'm really only looking at the opener against Wayne right now. I don't even want to look past that game. I just hope we come out of there alive."

Harlow's survives close hockey scare

An unheralded Howell Tool & Gage forced league-leading and undefeated Harlow Tire to sweat it out before the two arch-Berrington Division rivals settled for a 2-2 tie in the Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey League last week.

The tie preserved Harlow's victory string. The Berrington Division leader is 9-0-3 on the year, while Howell is sporting a 5-3-4 record. All three Harlow Tire ties are at the hands of Howell.

Harlow grabbed an early lead as Jim Creekmore's shot broke the crease. Mike Beals and Jerry Robertson carded the assists.

Errol Pulk came up with the answer for the league-leader. He scored on an assist from Jerry Peterson to tie the score at one-all. Then, Greg Barbaza converted a Creekmore pass to give the lead back to Harlow. However, with 4:39 remaining, Al Pulk broke in and netted the tying goal for Howell.

In other Over 30 action, Millar-Weinberg bounced back this week to defeat Rogalas Bar & Grill, 8-2. Peter Cushman had a big night with two goals and three assists, while Ed Harmon had one goal and three assists.

Gary Ledger, Arnie Cox, Otto Mason and Paul Brown also scored . Millar improved its record to 4-8 on the year.

Graduation rocks champs
Plymouth-Salem begins to rebuild cage team

By KEVIN LITWIN
ANP Staff Writer

It's understandable if Plymouth Salem boys basketball coach Bob Brodie doesn't know what to expect from his team in 1991-92.

The Rocks posted an impressive 19-3 record in 1990-91, but lost all five starters and their sixth man to graduation.

"I really won't know what kind of a ballclub I have this season until we tip-off against Monroe Dec. 10," said Brodie. "I don't have any guys returning that started last year. We'll just have to wait and see what happens."

Brodie, now in his eighth season as Salem coach, guided his team to a 62-9 record for the past three years, but that was with a lineup that didn't change much in those three years.

Now he must mold a new group of youngsters to compete with the likes of Plymouth Canton, Livonia Stevenson and Farmington Harrison in the tough Western Lakes Activities Association conference.

"We have three guys with game experience that will more than likely start for us this season," Brodie said. "Sophomore James Head, a 6-foot-6 forward, senior Mike Abraham, a 6-foot-5 center, and senior Eric Stemmer, a 6-foot-3 guard. Other than that, I don't know right now who else is going to play."

Brodie said that Head will be counted on heavily this season to lead the Rocks.

"I'm just hoping for a decent year," said Head. "I'd like to average in double figures, maybe even 20 points a game. I just want to help our team win."

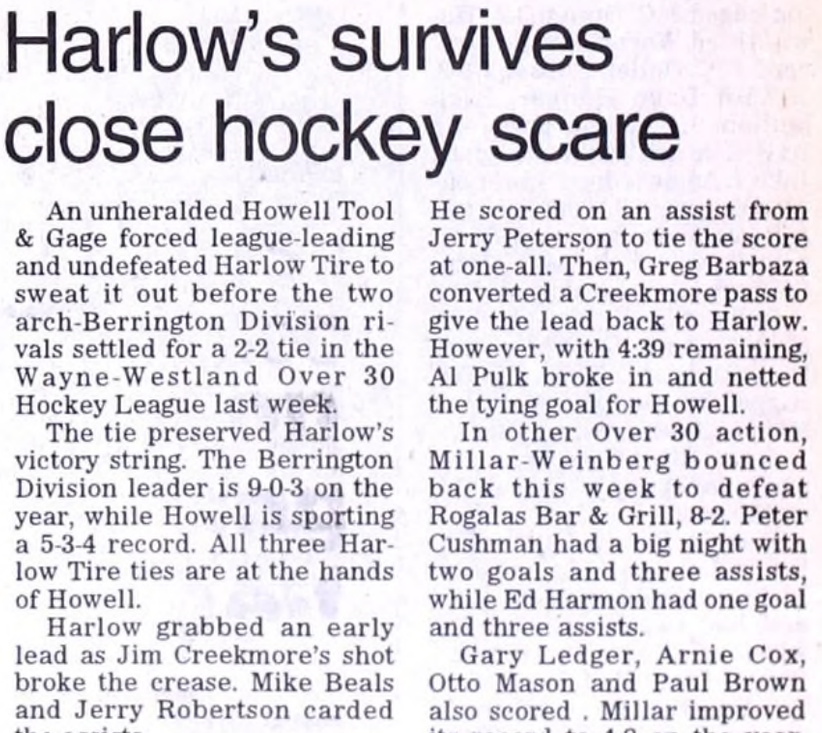

Salem plays in the Lakes Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association conference. The other teams in their division are Westland John Glenn, North Farmington, Farmington, Livonia Stevenson and Walled Lake Central.

Brodie said his team began practicing Nov. 11, and works out for two hours, five days a week.

"I've been running my guys hard in preparation for the season," Brodie said. "We'll mostly go with a man-to-man defense this year, and utilize a fast-break offense. My main goal this season is to hold opponents under 60 points. If we can accomplish that, we'll win a lot of games."

Brodie scheduled some tough exhibition matches for his team, allowing the Rocks to become battle-tested for the regular campaign. They'll scrimmage against highly-touted Wayne and DePorres High, along with a few others before opening on the road against Monroe Dec. 10.

Salem will play 17 regular-season games this season before the conference playoffs start Feb. 28. Their first home game is Dec. 13 against Trenton.

The picture of victory

North Middle School runners posted an untarnished 11-0 record in cross country this season. The Van Buren Township harriers earned victories over Saline, Ann Arbor, St. Francis, Hazel Park, South Middle School, Milan, Monroe, and placed second at the Saline Invitational. Tina Harman, an 8th grader, and Tammy Pietrowski, a 7th grader, led the girls' team by finishing first and second in the majority of the meets. Each girl won a medal in each of the five invitationals North competed in during the 1991 campaign. Other top performers included: Laurie Painter, Bryanna Patrick, Angie Wehner, Mandy Jones and Kim Jacks. North should also be strong again next year as four of the top seven runners will be returning to the Viking lineup. ANP photo by Deanne DeYonker/staff photographer

Drains Run Slow?
You'll never have a slow running, or clogged drain again! The secret? Clean drains don't run slow.
The "slows", or periodic clogs, are SIGNALS that a thick layer of GOOK is choking your pipes. Grease, hair, and other waste stick to your pipes, with every use. This gook deposits along the entire length of the pipe. It chokes your pipes gradually, as it gets thicker and thicker.
Gook
other products run here →
Conventional drain openers can't fix slow drains. They react chemically on the surface of the gook. To be effective, they must remain in contact with the waste. Even a small tunnel through the gook lets them flow out to the sewer, leaving the gook behind.
In the past, the only way to remove this build-up was to rooter your pipes. An expensive, temporary measure.
Now, with just a few minutes each month, you can easily clean out your pipes... and KEEP them clean with Plumb Clean®. It clings, and penetrates deep into the gook. No other product has the Plumb Clean® formula. That is what allows it to liquefy even years of build-up. Plumb Clean® will clean the entire length of your pipes. It will make your drains run like new, when used as directed. This penetrating action is so revolutionary, we stand behind Plumb Clean® with a money-back guarantee! Don't be confused. Plumb Clean® is the brand with the money-back guarantee right on the label.
Saves Money. A 1 lb. jar of Plumb Clean® holds up to 41 drain treatments. Even if drain openers could fix slow drains, it would take over 10 quart bottles to get the same number of treatments. Plumb Clean® costs about 35¢ per treatment. We don't know of anything that cleans drains for less.
Independent laboratory studies show Plumb Clean® more effectively breaks down organic waste than all other products tested. So, if your drains have the "slows", act now. Get safe, guaranteed Plumb Clean® today!

New security system now available to public

Motorists traveling throughout Michigan this winter will be as close as their car radios to receive the latest driving conditions. Last month, the Michigan State Police announced a new Michigan State Police Travel Advisory Network, a 24-hour road condition reporting service, broadcast through local radio and television stations.

The department will utilize road reports from state police posts throughout the state and then make that information available to the media for rebroadcast purposes.

"In the past, when winter weather hit, Michigan State Police posts were inundated with calls concerning driving conditions," said Lt. Steve Brown, of the Michigan State Police Operations Section. "In many cases this would tie-up existing lines, not allowing emergency calls to come in. By having the public listen to their local radio and television station they can receive the same information in the same manner as they do school closings'-through the media."

The travel advisory network also is designed to free troopers and post personnel for other law enforcement assignments and to get travel information to travelers in a timely fashion.

Last year, one out of every 35 Wayne County car owners had their car stolen. And as victims of vehicle theft -now the fastest-rising property crime in the country according to the Federal Bureau Investigation'-they subsequently incurred the financial burden of paying thousands of dollars to replace their stolen cars.

But now, with the introduction of Teletrac vehicle security service, Tri-County consumers can protect themselves from the substantial monetary cost of replacing a stolen vehicle with a new one.

"Teletrac service is far more conprehensive than the car security devices most of us are familiar with. Teletrac is not an alarm. It's not a homing device," said John Lankes, Teletrac vice president and general manager for Detroit operations. "Teletrac is a vehicle security service that promises to replace your car with a new one if it is stolen and not recovered."

Teletrac 24-hour vehicle security services locates a car the minute it is hot-wired. The service spans 1,800 square miles throughout Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties. The service will extend north to Pine Knob, south to Flat Rock, west to Ypsilanti and wast to Lake St. Clair.

Here is how Teletrac vehicle security works: The instant a car is hot- wired, a small vehicle locator unit hidden in the car will emit an emergency signal. This emergency signal, transmitted to the Teletrac Control Center in Farmington Hills, will alert Teletrac staff to locate the stolen vehicle and begin tracking the movement.

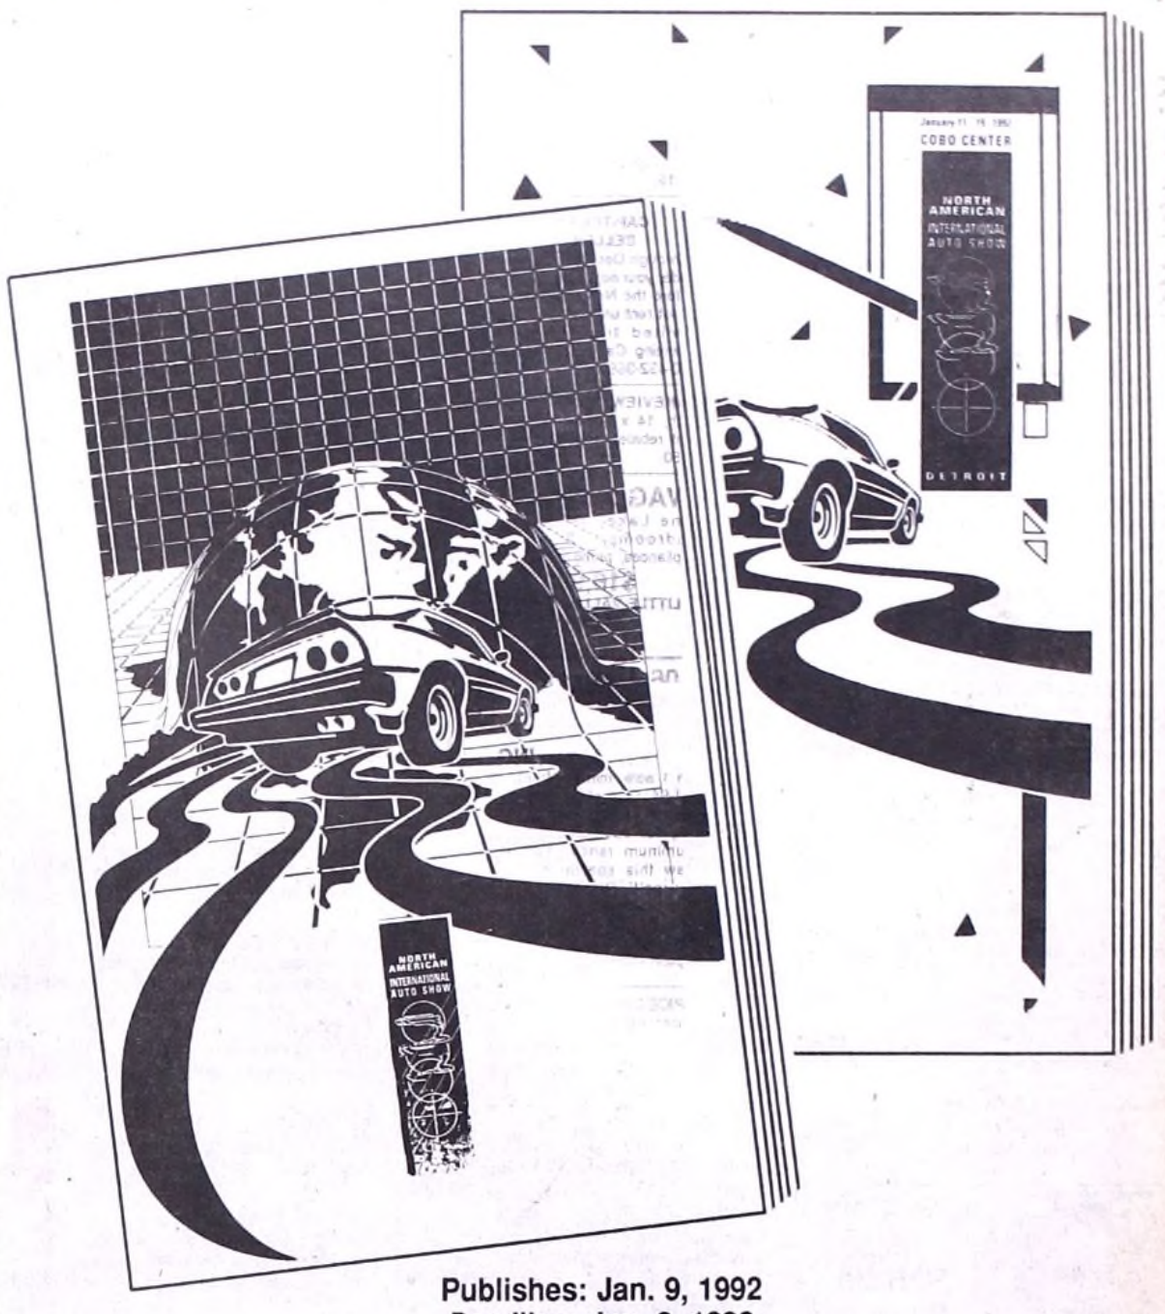

Teletrac staff then contact the vehicle owner to verify the theft. Once the theft is confirmed by the registered owner, Teletrac staff will establish a three-way conference call with the police agency of jurisdication to file a police report. Even if the vehicle owner cannot be reached, the Teletrac Control Center will notify the police agency of the unconfirmed auto theft in progress, and work with the police for fast recovery.

All law enforcement agencies throughout Wayne, Macomb and Oakland counties will have access to the information they need to dispatch patrol units to recover the stolen car and apprehend the thief. When a Teletrac-equipped vehicle is stolen, Teletrac will provide the police agency of jurisdication the color, year, make, body style, license number, street location and approximate speed and heading of the vehicle. Information on the registered owner and authorized drivers will also be available. A number of agencies, such as the Michigan State Police, the Wayne, Macomb and Oakland County Sheriff Departments and the Farmington Hills Police Department, will receive the information via Teletrac mapping software installed in their dispatch centers; others will receive the information by telephone.

Teletrac vehicle security service is being used successfully by Southern California and Chicago law enforcement officers to recover stolen cars, and Lankes report the accuracy and reliability of Teletrac service prompted the company to introduce an exclusive New Car Guarantee.

"Teletrac service is simply the best weapon Detroit consumers have to protect their cars from theft because it is the only vehicle security service that offers, 24-hour protection," Lankes said. "No other service offers consumers the assurance that if a car is stolen and not recovered, it will be replaced.

Sweet smelling Christmas memories

Christmas is everyone's favorite time of year. For most of us though, this festive season seems to come and go all too quickly.

In mid-October, you're in a planning frenzy, and before you know it, all the excitement of Christmas has faded into a whirl of January white sales and "holiday catchup."

One way to extend the happy moments that make Christmas so enchanting is to make a batch of potpourri (a mixture of dried petals as in a sachet) out of the fresh roses you received as gifts or used to decorate your home this holiday season.

It's a fun family project that everyone can help with, and the sweet smelling finished product will remind you again and again of the joyous holiday season.

To start your potpourri, collect the petals remaining on the rose stem before they turn brown. Dry them until crisp on a screen, cookie sheet or any flat surface.

Red, one of the prominent colors of the season, is also the single most popular rose color purchased in the month of December and when dried, red roses turn a lovely deep wine color.

For each quart of petals you collect, add one tablespoon of fixative (an aroma additive)- dry lavender, oak moss, sandalwood or orrisroot are good choices and are available at many herb and spice shops or drug stores. Use the chopped form, not powdered.

Next, stir in your favorite herbs and spices. Cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg, dried citrus peel and vanilla beans are popular additons. Finally add several drops of essential oils. If you like, substitute your favorite perfume.

Seal the finished potpourri in a jar and let it mellow for about 10 days. In order to properly blend the ingredients, shake the jar briskly every two days.

As the months of the new year go by, continue collecting rose petals from the bouquets you receive for Valentine's Day, birthdays, anniversaries, Sweetest Day, Secretary's Day-or any time you buy or receive roses just for fun. Add the petals from these special occasions to the potpourri, along with additional spices as needed. Soon, you'll have an overflowing and permanent keepsake of many good times.

A variety of colorful ties are available for Dad

Men's ties have gone through many changes--conservative solids, thin and leather, extra wide with patterns, light patterns, red or yellow, paisleys and pastels--and now they are conversational.

Hudson's men's neckwear has become more exciting than ever with brighter colors, abstract prints and themes. All made of 100 percent silk, four of the top themes for the holiday season are: Beatles, Wildlife, Christmas and Occupational.

Beatles Ties:

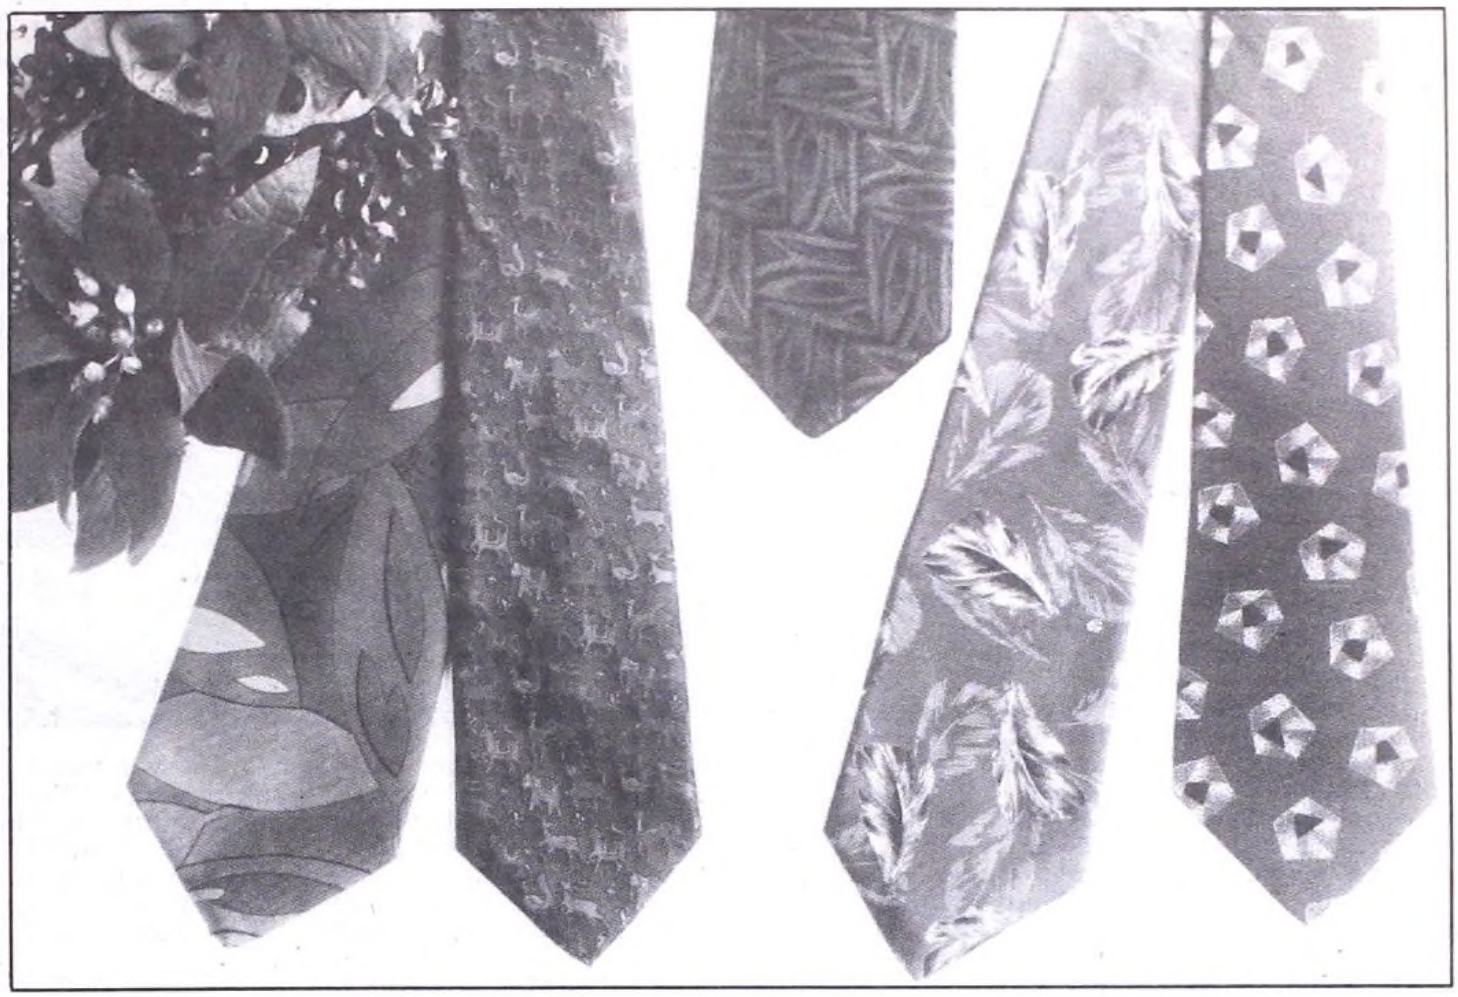

Top Beatles hits have been turned into wearable art. Each tie includes a woven-in label which names the corresponding Beatles song and its orginal release date. Designs are available in 12 different styles. Some of the songs represented include: "Yellow Submarine," "Help," "All You Need is Love" and "Back in the U.S.S.R." Cost is $27.50.

Wildlife Neckwear:

Wildlife neckwear represents a series of the world's endangered animals such as leopard frogs and blue whales. A portion of the proceeds, from this series, is donated to the World Wildlife Fund. They are gifts that keep on giving and retail for $27.50.

Christmas:

The holiday spirit is displayed in more than six different scenes. One scene, exclusive to Hudson's, depicts the Detroit Skyline with the Renaissance Center and Santa in his sleigh. Cost is $25 and $27.50.

Brighten his holidays with one of these bold and exciting new looks in neckwear. Shown from left is a brightly colored abstract silk print in tones of orange, green and blue; a richly woven silk tapestry Christmas motif in green and red; a European inspired abstract geometric of woven silk in tones of blue and gold; a feather design silk print in teal, lavender and gray; an art deco geometric printed on silk crepe de chine in blue, gray and black. ANP special photo

Occupational Ties:

Motifs representing doctors, lawyers, architects, accountants, stockbrokers, traveling salesmen, bankers and computer users are found in a wide variety of styles and colors. Cost is $30 and $32.50.

Breaking a tradition
Enjoy the holidays without the 10-pound gain

The holidays will soon be upon us, bringing with them all the temptations that the accompanying feasts and festive desserts contain. But, with a little bit of planning, these holiday treats can still be healthful and enjoyable.

Many people tend to overindulge during the winter holidays. Fortunately, this "splurge" doesn't have to affect your health too much, according to Zonya Foco, clinical nutritionalist at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital NutriCare.

NutriCare is an outpatient nutrition counseling clinic which provides individualized nutrition counseling and programs.

When referring to the holiday eating, "Think of all the things you enjoy about the holidays," Foco said. "Remember that becoming uncomfortably stuffed isn't one of them. There is no reason to use the holidays as an excuse to overeat."

> "Think of all the things you enjoy about the holidays. Remember that becoming uncomfortably stuffed isn't one of them. There is no reason to use the holidays as an excuse to overeat."
> Zonya Foco
> Clinical Nutritionalist, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Nutricare

Foco has three suggestions for the holiday season:

1. Listen to your stomach. Stop when you are satisfied.

2. Enjoy visiting a little more.

3. Incorporate exercise into the festivities. For example, recruit the family for a walk.

In addition to eating less, simple substitutions in food preparation and choice can greatly cut down on fat consumption.

One of the problems with fat is that it is loaded with calories. Fat holds over two times as many calories as protein and carbohydrates. There are five grams of fat in a teaspoon of shortening.

"In addition to fat being so highly caloric, metabolically speaking, our body would rather store it than burn it," Foco said.

This storage leads to excess weight.

A typical holiday meal, which includes turkey, gravy, vegetables, candied sweet potatoes and pie, can actually add up to 2,100 calories of which 47 percent of the calories are fat.

This 110 grams is equal to 22 teaspoons of fat.

Besides weight gain, other health complications are caused by too much fat consumption, including an increased rate of heart disease and in increased rate of breast, prostrate and colon cancers.

The following suggestions are offered to cut down on the fat content in your meals without losing any of the taste:

- Choose white meat from the turkey, and avoid eating the skin.
- Whenever possible, substitute low fat margarine in recipes that call for butter or lard.
- Skim fat from juices before making gravy.
- Steam vegetables and serve them plain, rather than adding cheese sauce or cream.
- Make pies with less sugar, low fat milk and egg substitutes.

Monopoly remains top game for Christmas 1991

Games are always fun gifts to buy at Christmas, and Toys-R-Us has the latest craze in computer and board games.

A popular board game dealing with power, money and property is still the hottest game on the market today. Monopoly is selling off the shelves like hotcakes, according to Michael Cullen, inventory control manager for Toys-R-Us in Canton Township.

"Monopoly by Parker Brothers remains our best seller at Christmas," Cullen said. "We now have Monopoly for children as well."

Nintendo fans won't be disappointed this year. The 1991-1992 model Super Nintendo has sharper colors and graphics as well as more functions, according to Cullen.

"For little girls we have the Singing Mermaid by Mattel," Cullen said. "We also have the Ariel doll from The Little Mermaid movie which is very popular."

The walking puppy and kitty are selling fast as well as games and animals of the Walt Disney classic 101 Dalmations.

"Another popular game is the tournament table which sells for $180," Cullen said. "This is from Fisher Price. There are four games in one."

Other adult popular games include Scattegories. Players are assigned a category and have to name as many items as possible within the limits of a timer, according to Don Csont, director of Toys-R-Us in Westland.

"This is a group game and a lot of fun from an adult standpoint," Csont said. "A lot of times games become hot with adults because they see it advertised as the "in" game to play. They want it for hosting parties or to play with friends."

Trivial Pursuit and Win, Lose or Draw were formerly at the top of the popularity list for games. Now, Win, Lose or Draw isn't even in the top 100, according to Arnie Van, assistant director of Toys-R-Us in Westland.

"The hot games take over and slow down the sales for other games," Van said. "It doesn't mean they're not selling.

"Every year there's a different hot game. It all depends on what time of year it is and what's being advertised heavily. The games you've been exposed to are top in your mind."

Shoe sales pick up during the holidays

What are the hottest selling tennis shoes this holiday season? Any shoes that are advertised on television, according to Mark Mahan, manager of the Westland Mall Foot Locker.

"Some of our most popular shoes are those that sell for over $100 per pair," said Mahan. "Right now a couple of best sellers are the Nike Charles Barkley shoe, and the Flight Light Nike, which are both heavily advertised on television."

"I bought my son a pair of those Flight Light Nikes," said Deanne DeYonker, Wayne resident and customer at Foot Locker. "My son specifically asked for those shoes. He's in the eighth grade, and I guess that you're not included in the group if you don't have those shoes."

Mahan said that consumer interest is also focused on Reebok-brand shoes, with the Converse line close behind.

"People probably think the Reebok pump is the most popular selling shoe from the Reebok line," Mahan said. "But actually, any shoe from Reebok, as well as any shoe from Nike, are consistent sellers."

Although many outdoor joggers refuse to take the winter off from their training regimen, running shoes don't really sell that well in the cold Michigan winter months, according to Mahan.

"Running shoes are mainly a warm-weather product," Mahan said. "People usually purchase those types of shoes in the spring or summer."

Mahan says that even though he gets quite a bit of business from consumers looking for top-dollar items that are supposedly the best products, the majority of his sales come from the middle-range buyers.

> "Some of our most popular shoes are those that sell for over $100 per pair. Right now a couple of best sellers are the Nike Charles Barkley shoe, and the Flight Light Nike, which are both heavily advertised on television."
> Mark Mahan

"Most of my sales come from customers looking for a good shoe that's reasonably priced," Mahan said. "I would say that most of the shoes sold at our Foot Locker are in the $60-$75 price range."

How is business going so far this holiday season, Mark?

"So far sales have been going pretty well," Mahan said. "Business really picks up during the holiday season."

Specialty gifts for the holidays under $20

Is your holiday gift list too long or your cash supply too short?

Don't panic--there are plenty of quality items on the market this year for less than $20.

At Fisher's Hallmark Store in the Westland Mall, a wide variety of items are currently available for family, friends or business associates.

Just to prove that shoppers are on the right track this year, Hallmark is offering a unique train series that is sure to become a collector's item in the future.

The train series includes four cars (each can be purchased for $3.95 with an adjoining extra $5 purchase). The cars include an engine, passenger car, gift car and caboose. In addition, a trestle is available for $2.95 and can hold up to four of the train cars, Fishers store manager Marisa Place revealed.

As an option, the cars can also be hung on the Christmas tree for display.

One of the top sellers to date, Place said, is the current crop of "Snow Babies" that include all-white pewter or porcelain babies in snowsuits beginning in price at $7.50.

Christmas ornaments for "Baby's First Christmas" and many other celebrations cost about $9.75.

Stylish plush Rodney Reindeer and Santa doll types made of parachute materials are available for $7.95 and are ideal for younger children with safety in mind.

Trolls of all types are back in demand, Place said, and numerous varieties are available, ranging from figurines to earrings and magnets. The troll items, many including wild colored hair, start at $1.25. Most are priced under $7.

For those families intent on starting new traditions or those wishing to remember "yesteryear", Fishers also is offering an assortment of lighted ceramic buildings and figurines made in Victorian era styles.

The buildings include churches, homes and business shops (such as bakeries). The figurines include such styles as carolers and holiday shoppers.

For the person who has everything on a shopper's list, Fishers also offers boxed mugs--both the humorous and the professional styles, Place said.

Reasonably priced gifts for the young sports-minded family member are available at Jack's Sports Center at 3158 S. Wayne Road, Wayne.

For young T-ballers (ages 5-7) wooden bats are available for about $9 each and aluminum varieties be purchased for $12.

Manager Scott Rowland said a variety of hockey sticks are in stock, ranging in price from $12 on up and elbow pads can be bought for $6-7.

Christmas stockings hold surprises for everyone

When Great-grandma was a youngster, she probably was not too surprised at what she found in her Christmas stocking -- an orange, walnuts, peppermint candy and some other sweet treats. She and other trusting children of that era seldom noted that the stocking treats were exactly like those in their families' holiday candy dishes and fruit bowls.

If Great-grandpa had been a good boy during the past year, he found a similar assortment in his holiday stocking. However, if he had been naughty, there would be a lump of coal, a switch or a potato in his stocking on Christmas morning.

The Christmas stocking, once limited to children, now holds a variety of goodies for both youngsters and adults. Filling a stocking is a good way to group small gifts together, and to preserve an enjoyable part of the holiday tradition. Remember, a good stocking stuffer should be useful and fun as well as small enough to fit inside the Christmas stocking.

To add holiday cheer to youngsters' Christmas stockings, consider some of the following suggestions:

• Small games, baseball (or other) trading cards and small cars.

• Cassette tapes by their favorite perfomers.

• Certificates for books, fast-food meals or movie tickets.

Romulus candymaker Linda Norman has tempting food delights for the holiday season. ANP photo by Joan Dyer Zinner

• Miniatures, ranging from animal collectibles to doll house furniture.

• Grooming products such as lip balm, bubble bath, hair bows and nail care sets.

• Tiny books from Christmas story books to fairy tales.

Fill a woman's Christmas stocking with:

• Surprise her with a bracelet, necklace or ring, either costume or real jewelry, according to your budget.

• Her favorite cologne or perfume.

• Lipstick, nail polish (in her favorite shades) or other grooming aids.

• Put stockings in her stocking - glittery holiday hosiery, practical warm, winter socks or holiday decorated slipper sox.

• Miniatures to decorate her curio cabinet or to start a collection.

• A cassette for her car stereo, either her favorite singer or a language instruction tape so that she can learn French or Spanish on her way to work.

This Christmas, turn the tables on Dad, and fill a Christmas stocking for him with some of the items listed below.

• Sports paraphernalia, such as golf tees or fishing lures.

• Tickets for a sports event or concert.

• Pen and pencil sets, small desk items, address book, pocket calendar or calculator.

• Grooming aids, such as nail care set or a moustache brush (if applicable).

• Gift certificates for meals or entertainment events.

The range of gifts is limited only by the size of the stocking -- and your pocketbook.

Capture Christmas memories in photographs

Photos are almost as much a part of the holiday season as candles, mistletoe and Santa Claus.

Finding the right camera, however, to fit your capability and needs doesn't have to be a difficult task. Just make sure you shop around for the best price, according to Associated Newspapers Photographer Deanne DeYonker.

"I recommend catalog shopping through either Popular Photography magazine or Modern Photography magazine," DeYonker said. "You'll find the lowest prices in these magazines.

You don't have to be a professional photographer to use a 35mm camera. Some makes and models require only the push of a finger, according to DeYonker.

"There are several autoload, autofocus and autorewind cameras out there," DeYonker said. "Most brands such as Nikon have automatic cameras available for $100 or less. The Canon Snappy costs about $79."

Parents thinking about buying a 35mm camera for their teenager may want to consider the Chinon automatic which costs about $50. Other features to look for on an automatic camera include automatic exposure and built-in electronic flash.

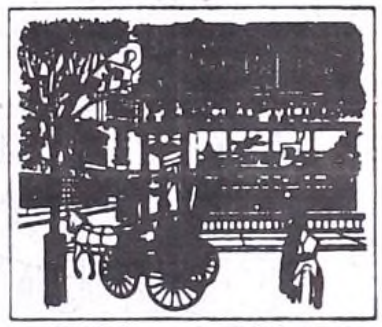

For the more seasoned photographer, the Maxxum Minolta is a very popular camera. Starting cost for the body is $200.

"I also recommend the Nikon 4004," DeYonker said. "The body runs about $265 and the lens costs about $330."

If you're giving a camera for a Christmas gift, be sure to mark the top "open first" so the family can get the most use out of the camera during the holiday season.
